

SCUTTLED BOAT WAS RAISED

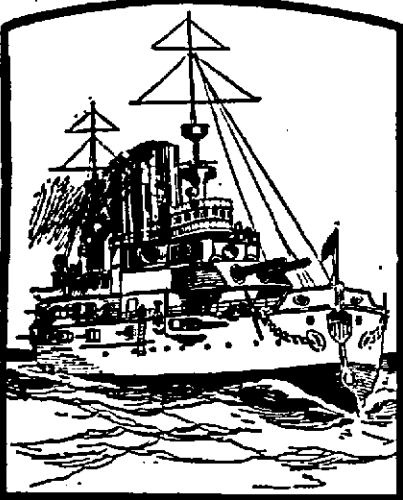

Reina Christina Sunk in Manila Bay by Admiral Dewey, Brought Ashore.

MANY SKELETONS

Remains of Eighty Men Were Discovered by Searchers When the Boat Was Beached.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.) Manila, April 13.—The Reina Christina, the flagship of Admiral Montojo which was sunk by Admiral Dewey in 1898 was raised on Sunday and beached. About eighty skeletons were found on board the boat when scuttled.

The valve of the main injector is missing which leads to the belief that the Christina was sunk before the commander deserted her, by his orders. The dead were all found in the fold of the vessel and many had been wounded.

Many Shots Told There were about fifteen shot holes in the hull and below the water line but otherwise the vessel is in fair condition and will probably be refitted very shortly.

PORTER USES IRON BAR ON AN EXCURSIONIST

Colored Man Has Narrow Escape From Mob of Victim's Friends at Bloomington.

Bloomington, Ill., April 13.—John Hillis, residing at 208 Illinois street, Joliet, one of a party of 600 excursionists from that city who came on a special train to witness the Joliet and Bloomington ball game here, was murdered by a mob of his friends at the station here by Arthur Robinson, colored, the station porter for the Chicago & Alton railroad. The train was not in readiness, and while the crowd was waiting Hillis and Robinson became involved in a controversy. Robinson claims that Hillis and a crowd of his friends attacked him and that in self-defense he was forced to strike Hillis. His weapon was a heavy bar of iron used as a stove shaker and inflicted a wound that may be fatal.

Robinson fled and was pursued for half a mile by a crowd of several hundred people, finally hiding in a barn, where he was located by the police and saved from violence. Hillis was placed on a cot in the baggage car of the train and sent to his home.

ROB A CHURCH OF FURNITURE

Peculiar Theft Committed by Unknown Persons at Marion, Ind.

Marion, Ind., April 13.—The First Presbyterian church was entered by unknown robbers during the week and over 100 chairs, three tables, hymn books, bibles and other articles stolen. Services had not been held in the church for several days and when the janitor went to the building he discovered that nearly everything in the lecture room of the church had been taken. Several wagon loads of goods were taken. The church is situated in the central part of the city in the business district, and no one has been found who saw any of the goods removed. The officers of the church, the police and detectives are attempting to get a clue to the robbery, but so far have failed to do so.

PAPER MILLS FACE BIG STRIKE

Employees in Wisconsin Cities Demand Saturday Night Off.

Appleton, Wis., April 13.—The brotherhoods of Appleton, Neenah and Menasha, representing 1,000 hands employed in ten paper mills in the cities named, unanimously voted to strike next Saturday night unless in the meantime the demands for total discontinuance of work on Saturday nights without reduction of pay is granted by the manufacturers. It is feared that the demands will be refused and a stubborn strike follow.

ALLEGED FRAUD IN MAIL WAGONS

JOINT CHARGES ARE ON FILE

Postoffice Inspectors Will Make a Careful Inquiry Into the Affair, and Heads of Men Who Give Advance Information Are Likely to Drop.

Peoria, Ill., April 13.—A half dozen manufacturing firms in the West who have jointly filed charges accusing the postoffice free delivery officials in Washington of giving contracts to an Indiana firm and compelling rural carriers to buy vehicles from that firm, believe their objections will result in their favor. The Peoria Manufacturing company is said to be one of the objectors, but a representative of the company denies it. He said: "The Peoria Manufacturing company has not yet been established in Peoria, but will be within the next few weeks. We have selected a site, and are arranging for a transfer of our machinery from Decatur, and expect to increase our capacity and employ a larger number of men. We will pay special attention to the manufacture of rural mail delivery wagons, and expect to make a vehicle that will prove popular with the carriers."

While denial is made that the new company is interested in the filing of the charges, it is said by a disinterested manufacturer that the company proposing to locate in Peoria has taken an active interest in pushing the charges against the postal officials in Washington, and hopes to derive benefit from the attack, as the Peoria rural mail cart will be on the market early in the fall, when hundreds of new rural routes will be put in operation.

Asked for details of the charges against the postal officials, the Peoria manufacturer said they were general in the main, alleging a "deal" whereby the wagon used by nine-tenths of the carriers was the only one allowed to be purchased. Upwards of seventy-five carriers in Peoria are said to be using the wagon in dispute.

To Probe Charges.

Washington, April 13.—Postoffice inspectors engaged in the investigation of department affairs will make a careful inquiry into the charges that certain wagon manufacturers have been given preference in advance information about the establishment of rural free delivery routes. These charges come from a firm in Peoria, Ill.

A. W. Machen, superintendent of the free delivery bureau, says: "We have been careful in enforcing a rule in the free delivery division that no advance information about the establishment of routes shall be given. I cannot say what any one of about 135 men may actually have done in a given instance, but I know they all have instructions not to furnish advance information, and that they know the giving of such information would be under the penalty of dismissal from the service."

Mr. Machen added that some firms secure early information about these routes by watching the county papers closely.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRE

A cyclone in Illinois killed a child near the town of Atwood, injured its mother, and caused destruction for fifty miles.

St. Louis fair buildings will probably not equal those of Chicago, the employment of local architects resulting in a variety.

The Burlington and Milwaukee road have taken no action on the labor and theatrical rates and are waiting for instructions.

Easier money and the success of the council loan has eased the London stock market situation. A recovery was made in consols.

It is reported that work on the construction of the Burlington branch from Ashland, Neb., to Sioux City, Ia., will be started in May.

Suit will be begun by the Chicago Great Western to compel the Union Pacific to grant it a contract to use its bridge across the Missouri river at Omaha.

Sir Thomas Lipton's chauffeur was fined $25 and costs at London for driving his automobile in which the owner was riding at more than 12 miles an hour.

It is reported that the reduction of the Burlington force at Omaha will not be by any sweeping order, but piece by piece, so that the attention of the public in the city will not be attracted and the public resentment incurred.

The railroad and warehouse commission of Illinois has handed down a decision that the railroads in that state must distribute their cars equally to grain shippers and show no discrimination whatever.

Twelve department clerks at Washington who are submitting to Mr. Wiley's tests with borax cured food are turning pink; all are in a healthy condition.

The fifty years' betrothal of Tom Miller, a member of the Manhattan club of New York, was ended by the former's death at the age of 79. The reason for the delayed wedding is not known.

The Westby bank case will be appealed to the United States court of appeals at Chicago. It will be carried up by the petitioners who were unsuccessful in the federal court at Madison in their prayer that be adjudged as bankrupt.

MEN KIDNAPED FROM STEAMERS

Non-Union Firemen of Lake Boats Caught in Buffalo This Morning.

VIGILANT UNIONIST

The Captains Are Taken to Union Headquarters and Held Prisoners for Hours.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.) Buffalo, April 13.—Five non-union firemen were kidnapped from the Wm. Mack, a propeller steamer, here this morning, having shipped from Chicago and were taken to the union headquarters where they were held for some hours.

Police Called The men were not released until the police demanded it and then they were allowed to leave their prison in the union rooms. The affair has caused a great stir in the union circles here. No arrests have been made.

Due to Strike This is the result of the strike of the marine firemen. Chicago ship owners are doing all in their power to break the strike by hiring non-union men and as a result many Chicago university students have taken temporary jobs.

INTERURBAN WIRE WAS DANGEROUS

Sagged, and Was Charged with Large Amount of Electricity from Contact with Other Line.

Grim death stared West Milwaukee street pedestrians in the face for several minutes this morning. A telephone wire of very innocent appearance was the source of danger, and a false step might easily have sent several human beings to eternity. The wire was used for telephone purposes by the Interurban road, it broke a short distance north of Milwaukee street on North Franklin, and sagged in the path of the passers by.

In falling the wire came in contact with the trolley wire of the city railway company and with a wire belonging to the Wisconsin Telephone company. The former charged it with the entire voltage used to propel the street cars. A phone or two was burned out by the latter contact. While several men kept the passing people away from the wire, Ray North, Motorman No. 1 on the Interurban road, braved the danger and tackled the red hot wire with a long pole and put it where it could harm no one.

BEGIN TO MAKE PREPARATIONS

Pinafore Is to Be Given in Beloit On Thursday Evening Next.

Rehearsals for the production of "Pinafore" at Beloit by the St. Cecilia society of St. Mary's church have begun. The opera will be given in the Line City Thursday evening, for the benefit of the hospital project which is being pushed by the Catholic church of that city, and especially by Father Ward. A rehearsal was held yesterday afternoon and another is scheduled for tomorrow. The principals in the cast have not ceased practice since the last presentation, and an even more successful performance is looked for in Beloit than that in this city. Arrangements are being made to secure a special car on the Interurban road to take the songsters to Beloit.

BIG PACKERS PAY LARGE FINES

Send Draft to Missouri Supreme Court Without Delay.

Kansas City, Mo., April 13.—The five Missouri packing companies which were fined $5,000 each March 20 for violation of the anti-trust law, through their attorney, Frank Hagerman of this city, have mailed to the state supreme court a draft for $27,136 in payment of fines and costs incident to the action against them. The firms fined are the Armour Packing Company, Cudahy Packing Company, Hammond Packing Company, Swift & Co. and Schwarzschild & Sulzberger. The payment was made before it was due, as the offenders had thirty days from March 20 in which to satisfy the judgment.

Unearth Body of Abbot

Recent excavations on the site of St. Augustine's abbey, Canterbury, Kent, England, have brought to light the leaden coffin and coffin plate of Abbot Ulric I. (955-1006), and the body of another abbot wrapped in silk vestments, much decayed, with pieces of copper gilt clasps. Numerous fragments of carved marble, brightly painted stones, gilded pinnacles and figureheads have also been unearthed.

ROOSEVELT WAS MORE THAN WISE

He Is Out of the Way of All Advice on the Much Discussed Merger Decision.

WILL ACT HIMSELF

The President To Solve Problem on His Own Hook, Before He Returns to the Train.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.) Washington, April 13.—Everything that can be done to alleviate the effects of the Northern Securities merger decision is being done by the administration. Leading republicans in the senate have no idea of sweeping attacks upon other roads or industries as the public seem to expect.

Roosevelt Wise President Roosevelt it is claimed knew what the decision was to be and so arranged his trip that he might be away from all advice and telegrams when the decision was made public that he might solve the question for himself alone.

Held as Club It is said the decision will be held as a club over the heads of two other trusts, the coal and beef trusts, to make them behave themselves and no other large concern will be attacked at once.

COURT GRIND IS SAME AS USUAL

Money Morning Brings Around the Usual Grist for Judge Fifield's Hopper.

Judge Fifield has had a morning of activity in the municipal court today. There was the customary number of Sunday cases of intoxication. Alonzo Kliney, Edward Cribben, and Max Miller were given cash fines with the choice of going to the county jail. They all paid. Lydia DeGroot of Beloit was up on the charge of drunkenness but did not have the money to pay her fine of $5.20 so she was committed to jail.

Cribben's Drive Cribben endangered a number of lives Saturday afternoon by driving madly up and down the streets of the city. He was finally stopped by Officers Brown and Fanning. The latter came in contact with Cribben's whip as he was attempting to stop the horses and was severely lashed across the face. Miller was up on a charge of assault and battery committed upon W. L. White at the Madison house, while he was under the influence of liquor. The Miller abandonment case was called and adjourned.

JUSTICE COURTS' USUAL GRINDING

Both Judges Reeder and Earle Had a Very Busy Forenoon Today.

The justice's courts had a busy forenoon. In Justice Reeder's court judgment was rendered for the plaintiff in the case of the Miamisburg Twine and Cordage Co., against A. Isham, of Clinton, for $180.00 and costs.

Justice Earle's In Justice Earle's court the following cases were disposed of: R. L. Brown against E. J. Owen; judgment rendered plaintiff in sum of $43.33. Merchants' and Mechanics' bank against Albert Moore and Joseph Binschop; judgment for plaintiff in sum of $116.41.

The cases of James McCullough against the Woodford County Distilling Co., and Hayes Brothers against C. H. Slightam, were adjourned until May 4th.

ACROSS CONTINENT IN WAGON

Experiences of Man Who Tries Old-fashioned Mode of Travel.

Dundee, Ill., April 13.—Frank Stanford, who has arrived overland from Portland, Ore., and who is preparing to continue his trip east, has had a remarkable experience in crossing the continent in a wagon. He left Oregon about four months ago, taking with him an invalid sister, driving a light wagon, to which were harnessed three Mexican mustangs. One of the animals died in Utah, and Stanford was lost for three days in a blizzard while in the mountains, his team finally dragging him to the cabin of a prospector.

Saved His Pennies.

For several years J. F. Zalusky, the Chicago baseball player, has been depositing all the pennies he received in change for his various purchases, in a strong wooden box he had constructed for the purpose. The other day he turned his wife and its contents over to a Minneapolis piano dealer as the first payment on an instrument he desired to purchase. When the coppers were counted they were found to number over 2,500.

BOODLERS ARE PANIC STRICKEN

MANY TURN STATE'S EVIDENCE

Prosecution Is Greatly Assisted by the Lawmakers, Who Are Endeavoring to Secure Immunity by Telling of the Operations of the Ring.

St. Louis, Mo., April 13.—Caught between two fires, the boodling members of the last State Legislature are hurrying hither and thither, conferring, consulting, exhorting, and threatening one another, panic stricken, undecided, and utterly routed. Over the long-distance telephone wires Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis and Attorney General E. C. Crow of Jefferson City will advise each other each day this week of the developments at their respective ends of the line.

Two Juries in Session. Two grand juries will proceed with their duties of exposing the full story of corruption in the State Assembly; two of the ablest prosecutors in the state will direct their work; a dozen bitter factions and a half hundred varied interests, political, commercial and social, will add the investigation in a hundred different ways.

Some Facts. Already these facts have come to light: The baking-powder trust defeated the repeal of the alum bill by the use of boodle.

Daniel J. Kelly, agent of the trust and for whose arrest Detective Tracy was sent to New York armed with requisition papers from Governor Dockery, attempted to bribe Lieutenant Governor J. A. Lee, and gave Lee's brother a check for $1,000, which the Lees kept three weeks before telling the prosecuting officers anything about it.

Cashes Big Checks.

Senator Farris cashed a $1,000 check in Parle's saloon in this city. He says Colonel Phelps, lobbyist for the Missouri Pacific railroad, gave him the check for favors received.

Senator Sullivan cashed a $1,000 check at the Colonial Trust company in this city. He will be examined by the St. Louis grand jury to-morrow.

Senator Orchard was seen with a $1,000 bill by fellow members of the Legislature.

A $1,000 gold certificate was cashed at a Jefferson City bank.

The authorities know its history.

Editor Is Involved.

I. L. Page, editor of a country press bureau at Jefferson City, cashed a $1,000 bill. He will be given a final opportunity this week to tell the Cole county grand jury where he got it.

N. C. Hickey, assistant clerk of the Senate, cashed two $500 bills. He will have final opportunity to explain to the grand jury this week.

The Cole grand jury reconvened at Jefferson City to-day at noon, and Attorney Crow immediately acquainted that body with the developments of the grand jury investigation in St. Louis during the last five days and mapped out the program for the week. The examination of a score or more of important witnesses subpoenaed since the developments in this city was begun.

STATE NOTES

One thousand papermakers at Appleton, Neenah and Menasha have decided to strike.

Stillma Wright, the head of a large flour milling firm, died at Berlin, the victim of a cancer.

The official schedule has been announced for the coming season of the Commercial League baseball teams of Milwaukee.

A hard storm is said to be accountable for the discovery of a large quantity of gold mining rock in the Ontario gold fields on Sturgeon lake.

After remaining unconscious for one month Carl Curtis of Neenah, who was struck on the head by a flying board in a saw mill, has fully recovered.

Retail druggists at Green Bay are up in arms and war of rates is on caused by a cut line of prices on patent medicine goods started by one of the large drug houses.

C. H. Schroeder, a fireman on the Burlington road, living at La Crosse, met with a serious accident at East Dubuque Thursday. A shaker rod broke and one of the pieces struck him on the head.

Charles Rigelman, who lives at Red Wing, was arrested at LaCrosse on a charge of horse stealing. He is thought to be a member of the gang which worked La Crosse county last fall.

John Potrykus, a young Pole, was shot down on the street by an unknown assassin at Milwaukee. The affair took place in the presence of a number of persons but the assailant disappeared.

H. Van Dusen of Madison and J. Van Est of Ohio were shot in a fight at Kenosha. The assassin was arrested by the police. The fight occurred in a saloon.

Fred Easton, a La Crosse millionaire, is having a launch built which when finished will be the largest boat of its kind on the upper Mississippi. It will be fifty-four feet long and contain a 36-horse power Wolverine engine.

Hans Larson, 17 years old, son of James K. Larson, a farmer living east of Evansville, was run over and instantly killed by a freight train Sunday. He and a companion were stealing a ride from Madison to Evansville.

SPAIN HAS AN ALARMING PANIC

Republicanism Growing Rapidly in the Roy Monarch's Kingdom.

TROUBLE SUNDAY

The Alarmists Fear a General Uprising Very Soon, of the Common People Against Anarchy.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.) Madrid, April 13.—The political situation here is becoming more and more acute and it is thought by some that a revolution is close at hand. Many demonstrations were held yesterday afternoon of republican nature.

Badly Frightened The alarmists are badly frightened over the complexion of the demon-

SPAIN'S ROY KING IN HIS NEW UNIFORM. strations and are ready for almost anything that may avert the crisis they think is about to come to the kingdom.

Boy King Alfonso, the boy king, however, refuses to see anything alarming in the situation and will take no steps to avert any trouble until it really comes to him face to face. The situation is critical.

DISASTER FOLLOWS BATTLESHIP MAINE

Namesake of the Vessel Blown Up in Havana Harbor Has Series of Accidents.

Norfolk, Va., April 13.—The maiden cruise of the battleship Maine produced a story of disasters. There was trouble between the officers and crew before the vessel left Newport News. She encountered storms immediately after sailing, and then followed the gun-mount accident and defective boilers, together with seven deaths, all within two months.

There is a scoop in the vessel's deck which is the result of structural weakness. It was caused by the practice firing off the Porto Rican coast, where the six-inch guns were tried. The recoil of the guns forced the decks into a condition that will require extensive repairs. This must be done by the government, because the Cramps built according to the government's specifications. The guns in recoil acted as levers to force the outboard side of the gun-mount up, and to depress the in-board side. This shows that the mounts are not sufficiently braced.

The body of Lieutenant A. C. Baker, who died of typhoid fever, was shipped to Chicago for burial. The bodies of the six others were buried at sea. The battleship will be inspected by the officers to arrive from Washington, after which it is likely she will go to New York for repairs.

PRAYING PRIEST IS STRICKEN

Vicar General Bouchet Dies of Apoplexy at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., April 13.—The Rt. Rev. Monsignore Michael Bouchet, vicar general of the Roman Catholic diocese of Louisville, was stricken with apoplexy while on his knees in prayer and passed away at the rectory of the cathedral after four hours' illness. Although he was 76 years old, he had been a man of good health, was hale in body and mind, and so far as is known the fatal attack came on without any premonition. He was a native of France, and came to this country in 1853. Seven years later he was called to Louisville, where he had remained ever since, having been appointed vicar general of the diocese in 1871.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jackman of Madison spent Sunday with Mr. Jackman's parents in this city. Mr. Jackman is a member of the firm of Lamb, Richmond, Lamb and Jackman at Madison.

TOBACCO TALK OF INTEREST TO THE ROCK COUNTY FARMERS

OUTLOOK IS GOOD FOR THE COM-ING YEAR.

BUYERS ARE ABOUT THROUGH

General Gossip on Conditions from All Over the Country.

There is not much doing in the tobacco market these days. This is not confined to the local field but is the report that comes very generally from the other tobacco centers of the country.

Some of our packers are still riding looking up stray holdings of the 1902 crop. There are scattered lots still in the hands of the growers which it takes a good deal of riding to find, but as it is near the close of the season the packers are bound to pick up all the desirable goods to be had.

Two car loads of eastern leaf have been received at the Soverhill warehouse, one of New York and the other of Connecticut stock.

Regarding the final work that is being done by packers in the handling of the 1902 crop the Wisconsin Reporter says:

Packing Season

The packing season is so far advanced now that most dealers are able to set a date for the final close of warehouse handling of the crop. Some have already finished and others are preparing to turn down the locks in their warehouse doors at an early date. The time of the year has arrived when spring fever is epidemic and help is becoming restless, many of the hands going back into the farming districts, and the packer of choice would prefer not to be handling bundle leaf after fermentation starts. It is fortunate, therefore, that packers are so nearly finished and the close not so much delayed beyond the usual season for closing this work. Four months ago at the other end of the season packers were fearful that they had a larger contract on hand in handling the biggest crop ever purchased in the bundle than they could successfully carry through. The job has practically been accomplished in the face of a shortage of labor and the wonder is how it was done. One thing has contributed to this result in that the crop was overestimated in yield and there is a big shortage in the amount of tobacco packed up out of the acreage purchased—being nearly 25 per cent less than the ordinary yield. In view of this fact while the crop was the largest in acreage ever produced in the state, the yield in cases does not much exceed some of the other late years crops.

Another reason that has contributed to the rapid handling is the fact that the crop has proven to be an exceptionally sound one. The percentage of damaged leaf to be removed is so small that the sorters have been able to turn out many more pounds per day than in ordinary seasons. And this leads to the suspicion that the tobacco has not been as carefully graded and handled as in former years, a natural conclusion whenever the help is making extraordinary records at the sorting tables. It could scarcely be expected that close work would be done in a year of short help and lax warehouse discipline.

Shade Grown

Has shade grown tobacco come to stay? The question is one that is proving an interesting theme in tobacco circles and suggestions for and against the proposition are heard. As Janesville is one of the leaf centers where the experiment was tried last year, the following from the New York Tobacco Leaf will be read with interest.

Ten question of whether or not there is a future for leaf grown tobacco is a topic which continues to come up occasionally for discussion in the trade. The skeptical ones are of course, in the majority; and if an outsider should go through the market making inquiries, and should accept the preponderance of opinion as conclusive evidence, he would soon put the shade grown proposition down as a fallacy. This one fact, viz., that there are to be more acres of tobacco grown under shade this year than ever before, is sufficiently significant to warrant the trade in keeping a watchful eye on the proceedings. Growers not only in this country but in Cuba and Porto Rico are going into the business more extensively than last year, and the plans for 1903 of the department of agriculture along this line, as outlined in our last issue, are more elaborate than ever. It must be remembered that all important innovations are greeted pessimistically as a rule. Gallio was tortured for claiming that this orb rotated around the sun; Columbus was laughed at because he averred the earth was round; and for that matter, it was only a few years ago when a certain cigar-leaf packer was ridiculed when he announced his intention to force the cure of his tobacco by resorting to artificial means. The shade-growing process is yet in a state of embryo. Defects that are noticeable in the last years crop may be remedied this year, and the faults discovered in this years growth may be rectified in 1904. At any rate every opportunity should be afforded the experimenters to bring the process to a state of perfection before the trade passes a final judgment on the venture. Give the shade growers a chance.

First Seed

It might be well for our Rock county farmers to be testing their seed and see if it will sprout. In some sections complaint is being made that the seed grown last year is not sprouting readily and if this condition exists here our growers will do well to find it out at once. The Madison Democrat sounds this word of warning and admonition:

Tobacco growers are experiencing some difficulty in getting their tobacco seed to sprout, especially seed grown last year. If this complaint is general, it is high time that farmers were apprised of it that they may act accordingly. No time should be lost in testing the seed, growers intend to use when the coming crop, so they may know when the time for laying the seed bed arrives that the seed will surely germinate, else some serious delays will occur. The failure of new seed produced last season is doubtless due to the wet fall and the neglect of the growers to properly dry their seed before storing it away. It is a rare thing for tobacco seed to lose its vitality, but such instances do sometimes occur. Reliable dealers in tobacco seed usually test their seed early before offering it for sale, and growers are therefore secure in dealing with reputable people making a business of propagating improved varieties of seed.

The following is a brief summary of existing conditions of the principle markets:

Edgerton

There is little occurring about the local tobacco markets that is deserving of mention. Some buying of the cheaper grades remaining in country hands is reported as well as an occasional lot of 1901, though but few dealers are at present interested in the movement.

C. Jordelen delivered 31 cs of 1901 to Child this week at 9, 4&1c, and 10a of 1902 at 8, 4&2c asst.

The packing season is fast drawing to a close and the end of the month will see nearly all the warehouses closed.

The last of the early purchases have now been received and as soon as the surplus stock of the bundle leaf is worked up the end of the work will be in sight.

McIntosh Bros. have purchased 150cs of export 1901 leaf from local packers this week. The Moon packing of 1901, of 120cs, put up at London, is reported sold to L. B. Carle.

Growers have commenced to prepare their beds for another crop, though it is considered somewhat too early to sow sprouted seed.

The shipments out of storage reach 11 car loads, 255cs, from this market to all points for the week past.—Reporter.

Stoughton

The Stoughton tobacco market has been quite dull of late and but few purchases have been made. Bundle deliveries continue and a number of warehouses will run for a couple of months yet. Sorters are becoming scarce as many of them are returning to the farm, where their assistance is needed in doing the spring work which is about to start with a rush.—Hub.

New York

Trading in the market continues actively in a general routine way. A scarcity makes itself felt of all types of old leaf. As the leaf is needed, and badly, too, prices have to be paid even under kick and protests. The weeks transactions comprise about 2,000 boxes of all kinds. Those who were anxious to take a whack at the new Sumatra crop, will have to defer their gratification for some time. The general strike on the railroads in Holland is preventing the shipping of any new Sumatra into this country, as announced in a cable dispatch in another place. Luckily there is plenty of old stock on hand and the available types to satisfy any demand. In the Havana market prices are stiffening. According to our available reports from Cuba, there will be little if any of the new Remedios crop fit for the American market. Factory vegas are ruling high in our market, as nearly every thing in that line has been cleared out in Cuba.—Journal.

Business in domestic leaf circles has not been particularly active during the past few days. Buyers seem to be only nibbling, and transactions are of limited proportions. Several small lots of 1902 Pennsylvania Broad leaf were sold at from 12 to 13 cents, marked weight, and 40 cases of selected tops brought from 14 to 15 cents marked weight. A more active interest will be taken in this tobacco, once its merits become more familiar to the trade. Despite all that has been said against it, the 1902 crop will rank among the most serviceable ever grown in the state. Other sales reported were 100 cases of 1901 Wisconsin at 18 cents, and 75 cases of 1901 Connecticut leaf wrappers at 58 cents.—Leaf Baldwinsville, N. Y.

There has been but little activity in the market during the past week, although a few sales have been reported. Geo. Wood of the firm of Armstrong and Wood of Elmira has been in the field and purchased a carload assorted, shipping to Elmira. Among his purchases are the following: Harvey Little, 5cs at 8c; Russell Adair, 15cs at 8c; John Connors 12cs at 7&1c; George McHuron, 10cs at 8c W. H. Wells 13cs at 7c.—Gazette.

Connecticut Valley

Sales of domestic leaf tobacco in the valley grow much less as the new corporation becomes more certain. I hear of very few, and those at so low a figure that the correspondents ceased to report them. For if the situation is understood, the better class of goods are being assorted and will be held for the sweat, unless they should realize the prices for which the growers are waiting. Should there be let down among the dealers, we may expect to see much of the 1902 crop, now in the hands of the growers, change hands within a short time. For the dealers realize that much of the goods held by the corporation will be sold direct to the in the cases and the first packing. Dealers at that time insist that the sweat was much better for the goods adding something to the flavor and color.—Cultivator.

Lancaster

There has been very little doing, our friends, the packers, tell us; no manufacturer, doing away with much of the work of the middlemen. The small or inferior lots will be picked up for exportation, as the low-priced goods are usually the kind exported. If the crops that have been assorted remain in the hands of the grower we may expect to have a

EASTER SERVICES BY REV. DENISON

CONGREGATIONALISTS HEARD AN ABLE SERMON YESTERDAY.

BEAUTIFUL MUSIC RENDERED

Solos and Choruses Were Delightfully Given by the Choir.

Especially impressive were the Easter services at the Congregational church Sunday and large congregations were present both morning and evening. In the evening every seat in the large auditorium was filled, even the gallery being taxed to its capacity to accommodate those who assembled to worship the risen Christ. The inclemency of the weather seemed to have but little effect on church attendance.

The church was handsomely decorated with Easter lilies, tulips, jonquils, palms and draperies of green and white bunting. The blossoms used were of rare beauty and two purity and simplicity of the decorations made them unusually effective.

Excellent Music

Both services were largely musical, the evening being devoted to an Easter concert by the chorus choir under the direction of Mrs. A. O. Wilson. The musical programs, both morning and evening, were ambitious and the choir was commended in words of highest praise for its rendition of the inspiring Easter anthems.

Musical Program

The morning program included the professional "Welcome Happy Morning" by Wheeler, sung by the church chorus choir and the children's choir; a carol "Lo, a Risen Christ We Sing," by Loud; "Hail Out Glad Bells of Easter" by Bartlett, with solos by Mrs. A. O. Wilson and Harry P. Robinson; "As It Began to Dawn" by Reed, with solos by Mrs. W. S. Jeffris and C. N. Van Kirk; and the offertory solo "King of Kings" by Shelley, sung by Mrs. S. B. Lewis with violin obligato by Oscar Halverson. One of the pleasing numbers was a selection "Easter Bells" by King given by Misses Agnes Griebel, Vera Lynt, Mille Crandall, Mabel Giesler, Ada Lewis, Robena Keller, Gertrude Crandall and Mrs. W. S. Jeffris.

Easter Concert

The chorus choir never gave a better sacred concert than the one last evening. The chorus is especially well balanced at present and sang excellently yesterday. The solo and chorus "O Day of Love Eternal" by Bartlett, with solo by Miss Belle Angell and violin obligato by Mr. Halverson, was especially pretty. Mrs. Wilson sang the offertory solo "Hosanna" by Granier, with chorus by the choir and the chorus also sang "Lift Your Glad Voices" by Van Laer; "Alleluia to Our King" by Hoeckel; "Hark, Hark, the Notes of Joy" by Adams, with solo by Harry P. Robinson and "Lift Up, Lift Up Your Voices" by Marz, with solos by Mrs. W. S. Jeffris and Supt. H. C. Buell. The solo parts were all pleasingly taken and a quiet "Our Christ is Risen" by Loud, by Mrs. W. S. Jeffris and Mrs. S. B. Lewis, a men's chorus "Lift Up Your Heads" by Holden and the beautifully rendered organ solos by Miss Ada Pond completed the very fine program.

An Able Sermon

For the text of his Master sermon Sunday morning Rev. Robert C. Denison chose the eighth verse of the twenty-sixth chapter of Acts: "Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?" The sermon topic was "Witnesses to Immortality" and Rev. Denison spoke plainly and simply, his message of hope being one that appealed directly to the hearts of his hearers.

In the words of the text, chosen from Paul's defense before Agrippa, Rev. Denison found his Easter message, likening the people who are slow to give Christianity and its lesson of the resurrection a place in their lives to King Agrippa. It is hard to understand why people are unwilling to accept a religion which increases the comforts and joys of this life and gives the hope of a life eternal.

Belief Is Natural

One of the witnesses to immortality is the fact that in every healthy, natural true-hearted life there burns the unquenchable hope of the life eternal. There are times when the shadows fall and it is hard to believe but in the best moments, when life is sound and healthy, we want eternal life for ourselves and for our friends.

Unhealthy Doubts

There are moods in which the immortal life seems incredible. There are times when men are all tired out, fagged in mind and weary in body and they are apt to say that it does not make any difference about the life hereafter. This is an unhealthy condition. Some men gather together the doubts of the skeptic and agnostic and other people are so engrossed with this world, the pursuit of pleasure and the making of money, that they pay little attention to immortality.

Power of God

Everyone might doubt immortality if there was no higher power, nothing wiser nor better than humanity but who dares question God's strength? Who dares say that when this little life is done, God's power has come to an end and there is nothing else that he can do? If he built this world, he can build another; if he gave man one life, he can give him another life. What God has done is a witness to what he may do.

Enter New Life

The clearest witness in Paul's defense is the fact that he believed in immortal life because he saw the new life rising about him all the time. He himself had been changed from his bigotry, his narrowness and his persecutions to life of generous sympathies, wider truth and love of his fellow man.

It is an error to think that the resurrection must be postponed to the future. It is going on all the time. Men and women are being raised from death into a new life. Each difficulty met with courage, each effort to rise above failure and disappointment, to push through bitterness to the spirit of love brings a touch of the power of the resurrection. The life that rises each day to God's thought will reach the summit of his love in the eternal love.

Evening Message

In the evening Rev. Denison confined his remarks to a few words but in them he crystallized a powerful sermon. He spoke of the customs of Easter which are relics of paganism, their significance relating only to the end of winter and the beginning of spring and its new life. He hoped that this Easter might be made to mean the end of the winter of discontent, of selfishness and of sin in every heart and the beginning of a new life of love and service.

Mrs. Lizzie Sweetland, the holder of No. 927, was the winner of the $35 lady's bicycle which was offered by the Gaskell stock company. The drawing took place at the close of the performance of "Jesse James" Saturday night.

The play presented Saturday evening served well to close of a week of altogether pleasing repertoire. Messrs. Gaskell and Buffham and Miss Nible were the most acceptable in their part. The play itself appealed especially to the gods, and abounded in hold-ups and bloodless battles.

VISIT OF THE MAGI

"THE ADORATION" TREATED BY FAMOUS PAINTERS.

Subject of the Three Wise Men of the East and the Infant Christ Ever a Popular One With Artists Who Depicted Religious Scenes.

(Special Correspondence.)

HEN the gay ceremonies of Christmas and the festivities of the New Year have been accomplished, the Romans still have another celebration to occupy their attention, that of the Epiphany, or coming of the wise men of the East to adore and offer gifts to the infant Christ. Hence it is that this is the feast of gifts to children.

In some churches the figures of the three wise men, arrayed as kings, are added to the other figures that surround the crib, in which a representation of the Christ-child is placed.

The story of the wise men from the East, told very succinctly in the Gospel, has been much enlarged and embellished in the course of the ages. The simple narrative did not suffice to the popular wish for details. An able historian of to-day, whose specialty is early Christian, and medieval history, ascribes this enlargement of the scriptural narrative to the natural longing that people had to know more about all pertaining to the life of Christ than what is contained in the Bible; hence the production of the apocryphal scriptures, "whose contents were of course accepted as true."

Thirteen days after the birth of Christ, as Jacopo da Voragine tells in "The Golden Legend" three Magi came to Jerusalem; their names in Latin were Gaspar, Balthasar and Melchior. They were kings, and, strange to say, at the same time wise men; for, as an old writer says: "It was the custom at that time that princes and kings were very wise."

There are various versions of their journey from their distant homes to Jerusalem, and also of their meeting; but in all the versions there is a general likeness, the differences being in the details. According to a much accepted account, they were astrologers who, like to their fathers for generations past, spent three days of every month on a high mountain in expectation of seeing the star that Balaam had predicted when he spoke of the star that should come out of Jacob, and the sceptre that should rise out of Israel.

Now, on the night of the birth of Christ a star appeared to them, which had the form of a marvelous child, with a cross of fire on its head, and it said to them: "Go quickly into the land of Judah, you will there find a new born child, who is the king whom you expect." They followed at once, and in twelve days accomplished a journey which on their return home occupied two years. This is one of the legends that grew up concerning them.

The star, it is said, was seen over all India, and the people rejoiced, and no one doubted that it was the same of which Balaam prophesied. And it ceased to guide them when they came to Jerusalem, doubtless in order that they might be forced to inquire of the place of the nativity of Christ, as Jacopo da Voragine says, and thus furnish to all men the testimony of the miracle.

The star has had its legends accumulated around it. Some say it was an angel; others that the Holy Spirit that had assumed this form to guide the Magi, and others again that it was a new star specially created for this object. It was not localized in the firmament, but hung in the air near the earth; it was so brilliant that it was visible in the daytime, even when the sun was shining; and, furthermore, it went before the Magi, as a living thing, instead of following the "circular movement of the other stars. I remember, besides, having heard from the late Christian archaeologist, De Rossi, a legend which I have not seen in print, to the effect that when this mission was over, it be offered to Christ—the gold of love, the frankincense of prayer, and the myrrh of mortification. And so for centuries this theme has furnished matter of thought to thousands of minds, and many interpretations of its symbolism and beauty have been wrought out.

The subject of the coming of the Magi and their bringing of gifts to the Christ child entered early into art. There is not in all the world a subject more beautiful for a painter, says Robert de la Sizeranne, in the last number of the Revue des Deux Mondes, than the nativity, of which this may be regarded as a development, and the theory, so hackneyed to-day, that in a work of art the subject is nothing, and the temperament of the artist everything, is contradicted during 500 years by the care which the artists have taken to choose this same subject, when even the will of their patrons nor the intention of the donors did not oblige them to this selection. All that there is of picturesqueness, of beauty and of aestheticism, is in this subject.

The "Adoration of the Magi" appears in the catacombs at a comparatively early period. It is a favorite subject of the early Christian artists. Over sixty representations of it are known, belonging to the first four centuries, in sculpture and painting. De Rossi, who is the great authority on the contents of the catacombs, speaks of more than twenty paintings of this scene in these subterranean cemeteries; none of these are earlier than the third century. The child is always represented, as the wise men found him, "with Mary, his mother." Gentle Da Fabriano's grand picture in the Academy of Fine Arts at Florence, is a joy to look at and its richness and splendor render it an abiding memory.

The whole stage, if one may say so, is crowded with a splendid pageant of Florentine noblemen and rich merchants, arrayed in the most gorgeous habiliments of the time, accompanied by an extraordinary retinue of servants. Gold and raised work, and imitation of brocade and cloth of gold and jewels and all rich things are lavished in this picture.

The robes of the three kings are precious samples of the finest products of the looms of Italy in the fifteenth century. Hawks and leopards and monkeys with which the rich Florentines were accustomed to travel, are represented in this resplendent work. And the artist was so proud of his work that he put his own likeness in it amongst the attendants; his face is seen behind the head of the youngest king; he looks straight out of the picture toward the spectator; his full, beardless face has a cheerful expression.

Perhaps the most simple and at the same time historical painting of the "Adoration" is that of Heinrich Hofmann, which we reproduce. "Rebecca at the Well," the work of Henry Elmore, is also one of the most admired of modern paintings.

It is impossible to write of more of these pictures, with which the artists of every land have filled the world. Even a list of them would occupy many columns. Each artist has treated the theme in his own special way, and while keeping to the general arrangement, has given it his special adornment.

Diving for Mother-of-Pearl.

The center of the mother-of-pearl industry is Singapore. The shell oyster is six to ten inches long, the larger ones weighing as much as ten pounds. It is found on hard bottom channels between islands when the current is strong. In gathering it a diver takes with him a bag of coil rope one-fourth of an inch in diameter, made in large meshes, which, while suited for holding the shell, does not impede his traveling along the bottom. The apparatus for diving has not been introduced in the Philippines, although Manila shell brings the high price of a dollar a pound.

"Copper" a Good Term.

Bernard Shaw, a learned Londoner, insists that "copper" is a proper designation for policeman, and much preferable to the term "bobby," now in common use in the world's metropolises. Copper, he says, is an excellent Saxon word, describing a man who pursues and captures.

Sawdust of Commercial Value.

French cabinetmakers have learned a way of preparing sawdust and making it into articles of ornament that resembles carved woodwork.

CYCLONE SWEEPS OVER ILLINOIS

MOTHER HOLDS HER DEAD BABE

House Is Blown to Pieces in Platt County and the Woman and Her Child Are Carried Across the Street by the Force of the Wind.

Springfield, Ill., April 13.—While hundreds of thousands of Illinois residents were celebrating Easter a storm that developed into fatal tornado in some sections swept over the entire state. The tornado plowed a path of devastation 150 wide and fifty miles long through Logan, DeWitt and Platt counties. It struck first three miles east of Lincoln and lifted all the water out of Deer Creek, leaving a dry bed a mile in length. It demolished three residences in that region, injured a score of persons and partly wrecked a large number of other buildings.

Gather in Cellars.

Full details of the extent of damage done have not been received. Rescuing parties are hurrying into the stricken districts with relief for the injured.

Reports at hand show that when the tornado swooped down on Deer Creek its coming had been heralded by the appearance of the clouds. Many of the residents had taken to cellars in the belief that their homes would not withstand the storm. This proved true at the homes of Samuel V. Baldwin, where an Easter party was gathered; Supervisor Adam Schanauer of Lincoln township and August Knecht. All these houses were swept away.

Destroys Brick Building.

At the Baldwin farm a two-story brick house was destroyed, as well as other buildings. Mrs. Baldwin and Willard Morrow while trying to escape were caught by the wind and thrown into a summer kitchen, which was then carried some distance. Both received injuries from the debris under which they were buried.

At the home of Supervisor Schanauer eighteen persons saved their lives by taking refuge in the cellar. The large house was lifted from the foundation, but all escaped without serious injury. The farm buildings there and many other farmhouses were destroyed and others at Blue Grass and near Waynesville.

Babe Is Killed.

At the Halsadhar settlement, three miles from Alwood, Platt county, occurred at least one fatality. The storm struck the little farming settlement without warning. Clifford Halsadhar's home was demolished in a moment. Mrs. Halsadhar escaped from the building as it went to pieces and, with her baby in her arms, was hurled across the village street. When rescued after the wind abated she clung to her infant, although herself fatally injured and unconscious. The child was dead.

According to reports received the town of Waynesville, DeWitt county, suffered seriously, but no definite information is obtainable.

Couple Drown in Flood.

Henryville, Ind., April 13.—A cloud-burst flooded this part of Clark county and did great damage. The heavy fall of water extended north as far as Sellersburg and Seymour. County Commissioner Raymond and his wife were drowned while crossing Blue Lick creek after church. The waters had risen so rapidly that the buggy was swept away.

ACCUSED OPERATOR IS FREED

Postoffice Officials Fail to Prove Case in Springfield Robbery.

Springfield, Ill., April 13.—Mitchell Driscoll, the Wabash night operator and towerman at Springfield Junction, who was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of the two mail pouches from the office of the railroad at the junction, has been released from jail. Postoffice Inspectors Laughlin and Gilbert not swearing out any warrant against him. The inspectors have no clue to the guilty parties nor have they located the missing pouches.

MAN BLOWS HIS NOSE TOO HARD

Violent Use of Handkerchief Ruptures a Blood Vessel.

La Porte, Ind., April 13.—Michael Milcarek died as the result of blowing his nose. Physicians say his case is one of the strangest in medical annals. He blew too hard and ruptured a blood vessel. The bleeding could not be stopped and he gradually passed into a comatose condition. Milcarek lived three days before his body was emptied of blood.

To Build Big Steel Plant.

Baltimore Md., April 13.—Ex-Senator McLaurin of South Carolina says the Mohawk Valley Steel Company, of which he is vice president, has let contracts for the building of an immense iron and steel plant at Brunswick, Ga., to cost $10,000,000.

Mazatlan Free of Plague.

Mazatlan, Mexico, April 13.—The city continues free of the plague and business assumes its usual aspect. There are seventy-nine people in quarantine. No measures are omitted to prevent a recurrence of the pest.

DISCOVER GREAT BEDS OF COAL

Most Important Find Since General Anthracite Development.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 13.—An immense tract of coal has just been discovered in Hanover township, south of the city.

of this city, on land owned the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company. Eight new veins have been found, above the twelve veins now worked in other parts of the upper region. The total twenty veins aggregate 150 feet of coal, the lowest one being 2,300 feet. It is estimated that there are 300,000,000 tons of coal in the tract. The discovery is declared to be by far the most valuable ever made in the anthracite region since its general development.

SUNDAY SHOOTING AT KENOSHA

Albert Brown, Thinking He Has Been Robbed, Tries Double Murder.

Kenosha, Wis., April 13.—Believing he had been robbed, Albert Brown shot Henry Van Dusen of Madison, Wis., and Joseph Van Este of Columbus, O., in a house known as the "Four Corners," just west of the city. It is feared both his victims will die. Brown was captured by Chief of Police Reinold after an exciting struggle. He is in the county jail, but refuses to make any statement. It is said he was crazed by drink.

TRIES SUICIDE WITH TIN CUP

Prisoner Endeavors to Take His Life and Fights Turnkey.

Peoria, Ill., April 13.—James Kinney, charged with larceny, who claims Aurora as his home, tried to kill himself with a tin drinking cup at the county jail. He tore the tin to pieces, making a ragged edge and with this slashed his throat. When the turnkey opened his cell Kinney attacked him and it was with the greatest difficulty that the would-be suicide was overpowered and the weapon taken from him.

CORDAGE COMPANY BANKRUPT

Involuntary Proceedings in Cleveland Against Akron, O., Concern.

Cleveland, O., April 13.—Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings have been filed in the United States District court here against the Akron Twine and Cordage company. The liabilities are placed at $150,000, assets not stated. The action is said to have resulted from the failure of Aultman, Miller & Co. It is understood that the stockholders of the two companies are identical.

QUAY IS GUEST OF GOVERNOR

Senator Discusses State Press Suppression With Mr. Pennypacker.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 13.—Senator Quay is the guest of Governor Pennypacker at the executive mansion. The senator reached here from Washington. He was expected last week from Washington to assist in the passage of the Grady-Salus libel bill. It is thought the purpose of his conference with the executive is to discuss this and other state legislation now in the governor's hands.

What Osteopathy Does.

Acute Congestion of the lungs. Case No. 2. Mr. J. was taken ill about 3 o'clock, p. m. with a severe chill, followed by high fever. I was called at 7 in the evening. I found the following: Thoracic distress and dyspnoea, flushed face, severe headache, rapid, strong pulse about 116, throbbing carotids and a short dry, hacking cough, very little expectoration, fever 103 degrees. He had several attacks similar to this but they had always been diagnosed as pneumonia. He never escaped with one attack, always had two until I treated him last winter, when he pulled through with one. After the second treatment he coughed up a chunk that he said seemed to be an inch square. It was located right below the sternum. When he coughed it up he said to his mother, "There it is and Dr. Dalin got it out for me." I gave him six treatments and he was well, but he took six weeks' treatment in order to build up his system. Reported by Dr. C. C. Dalin, Shenandoah, Iowa. C. W. Bliss, D. O. & Ida M. Wood, D. O. have offices in the Hayes Block, Janesville, Wis.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Rain tonight; generally fair Tuesday.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

On and after April 1st, 1903, no contract will be made for business localities. The rate for this class of advertising will be ten cents per line for each and every issue of either Daily or Weekly. The Gazette adopts this policy for two reasons:

First. To improve the news columns of the paper. The first consideration of any newspaper is to the reader, and its value to the advertiser depends entirely upon its popularity with the reading public. Business localities frequently flood the composing room the last hour before the paper goes to press, and news is sacrificed to meet the demands of this class of business.

Second. The Daily Gazette is rapidly extending its circulation throughout the country, giving the Janesville merchant an opportunity to talk to the farmer as well as the city customer, six days in the week. This means faster machinery, and increased expense in producing a paper as well as increased value for advertising purposes.

The Gazette has also adopted what is known as the space rate for display advertising, and prices have been placed within the reach of all advertisers.

The paper has long enjoyed a liberal patronage from home merchants, and it is in position today to furnish better service than any time in its history.

SOUND TARIFF DOCTRINE

"First I assume that the principle of protection should be maintained. I am not going to argue the question of protection and free trade. The second administration of Cleveland is not so completely forgotten yet that that question needs to be argued in this country now."

"Next, I assume it to be true that the people of the United States are enjoying a period of extraordinary or unexampled prosperity, and I assume that we don't want that prosperity to end. We don't want the mills closed, dust gathering on the merchants' shelves, the army of the unemployed re-appearing in the streets and prices reduced because the inability of the people to buy things which contribute to the comfort and enjoyment of life has caused an unmarketable surplus."

"Never in the world was so much money being used to contribute to the comfort, happiness and uplifting of so many people; never was so great a mass of people so well fed, well clothed, well housed, well employed, able to gratify the generous impulses of charity and benevolence and to perform the duties of thoughtful citizenship, freed from the harsh conditions of poverty as in these United States under the operation of the commercial system embodied in the tariff law which bears the name of that faithful and modest public servant, Nelson Dingley."

"Let Well Enough Alone
"The question whether a law shall be radically changed is not an academic question; the first consideration which presents itself is not whether under some other law we might or might not have become prosperous or whether under some other law we may or may not in the future attain prosperity. It is that the prosperity we have now today, is the prosperity of productive enterprise which has adjusted itself to the conditions that this Dingley law has created and the stability of those conditions in substance is essential to the continuance of this present period of prosperity. Other periods of prosperity may come under some other conditions, but this period will end when the conditions end."

"A revision of the tariff is a great and difficult task, not to be disposed of in a few days or a few weeks; not to be undertaken casually or except for grave and serious reasons."

—Secretary Root before Home Market Club.

CANADIAN TRADE

Canadian import figures indicate that the manufactures and merchandise of the United States are popular with the people of Canada. The statistical statement of the Canadian commerce, just received by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, covering the commerce of seven months ending with January 1903, shows that Canada imported from the United States during that time 67 million dollars' worth of merchandise against 32 million dollars' worth from the United Kingdom and 21 million dollars' worth from all other parts of the world. In other words, the U. S. supplied 56 per cent of the imports of Canada in the seven months ending with January last, the United Kingdom supplied 27 per cent, and the remaining portions of the world 17 per cent.

This large importation from the United States by Canada is especially interesting in view of the fact that the Canadian tariff permits the introduction of products from the United Kingdom on payment of only two-thirds the duty which goods from other parts of the world, including the United States must pay. This reduction on tariff on goods from the United Kingdom against goods from other parts of the world was begun some four years ago and the reduction on British goods increased until it reached 33 1-3 per cent. Yet in spite of this fact, the United States supplies to Canada twice as much merchandise as does the United Kingdom.

People who are clamoring for free trade and tariff revision, will find an object lesson in favor of protective tariff in the above statement of facts. It is also significant that the list of heavy exports to Canada from this country include iron and steel manufactures, farm machinery and other classes of goods where well paid American labor is largely represented.

LEGISLATIVE VACATION

The legislative vacation is not time wasted. The members of both houses have had an opportunity to rub up against their constituency, and the contact will be helpful to them. They have discovered among other things that the people are not clamoring for a radical primary bill and that outside of Madison, but little interest is taken in the matter. The demands of the dear people along this line, are largely imaginary, and principally exist under the hat of the man who sprung the so-called reform measure.

The fact has also been impressed on the members that the general public have no grievance against the railroads, they are content to pay the freight and work in harmony with the roads for general prosperity. There is no reason why the state should undergo an upheaval to gratify the whim of the chief executive. It is a good plan to let well enough alone.

The decision of the Minnesota Supreme court on the celebrated Mergers case, gives general satisfaction. While there is a great deal of ignorance concerning the combination of capital, the public seems impressed with the fact that these large corporations should be controlled by law. If the same popular sentiment prevailed concerning "get-rich-quick concerns" more practical results might be expected.

Candidates for Street Commissioner are as thick as blackberries in August, and the council will have plenty of material to select from. It might be a streak of economy to increase the salary to $1,000. This would make it an object for competent men to devote their time to the work and the people would be better served.

Mr. Bryan is out on a still hunt for a candidate for president. He must be in sympathy with the Kansas city platform. Mr. Cleveland is accused of being a republican and Mr. Watterson is far from satisfactory. The democratic party is not destitute of an issue.

Now come the confession of two state senators of Missouri that they actually knew that there was bribery going on in the legislature. Evidently these men followed the motto of their state, "show me" before they made their confession.

Once more comes a word from the peaceful islands of the Philippines that Captain Pershing captured another fort. By and by Captain Pershing will be even a greater hero than was Admiral Dewey.

That expose of the fake story of the Organ as to senator Kreutzer being besieged by angry supporters at his home in Wausau when in truth, the able senator was not in that neck of the woods at all but on his way south to Dixie land.

Perhaps Roosevelt is enjoying a lion hunt; perhaps he is studying Elms. Either way he is making ready for a grand play when he gets back into harness again and tells the senate what to do.

Now that the court has decided that the great northern merger is illegal it is up to "Jim" Hill's lawyers to find some way to do the same thing without violating the law.

Keene, the financier, even though sick, keeps in close touch with the stock market. Some people give up entirely when they have a headache, and can not do anything.

We are receiving the benefit of the recent election in more ways than one. Watch the streets at eleven o'clock now and think of them some weeks ago.

It is announced that the president may get a mountain lion or two. There seems to be no fear that the mountain lions will get the president.

Chentung Liang Cheng is again entitled to a vote of thanks for his consideration in explaining in detail that that is the right way to spell his name.

Maybe the president has selected the interior of the Yellowstone park as the ideal place in which to make his speech on the Iowa idea.

Let the fedora question drop. The real issue is, Where is the nation going to stand regarding the Panama hat?

If the Harrison luck were to meet the Roosevelt pluck face to face on a lonely road would not something terrible happen?

After his experience with the Chicago trolley car, the president naturally has no hesitation about facing grizzlies and mountain lions.

There are several places to be filled by the new council and more persons to fill them than there are aldermen.

Beloit college is starting its season well by playing games of baseball with the neighboring professional teams with successful issues.

Turkey looks as though the cutting process with all the powers wanting the dark meat was not pleasing.

Warring factions in Holland should go around and take a good look at the Hague tribunal.

Chicago has no public parlor in which ladies can lounge around and smoke cigarettes.

Easter Sunday is passed and the new dresses have all been worn and commented upon.

"Jim" Hill will please observe that there is nothing the matter with the anti-trust act.

Yellowstone park is pretty wild, but it is not infested with trolley cars.

What St. Louis needs most is a Municipal League like Janesville.

Janesville young people are marrying off at a surprising rate.

Castro has been quiet now for about ten days.

Easter Monday means pay the bills for the Easter hats.

San Domingo has another revolution.

PRESS COMMENT

Weyawewa Chronicle: What with rapid fire justices and quick divorce attorneys, neither long engagements nor extended terms of marital life are necessary.

Chippewa Herald: The mayor of Ashland, a democrat, has been endorsed for re-election by the republicans of that city. There is evidently more municipal harmony in Ashland than in Oshkosh.

Ashland Press: The third candidate, J. G. Moritz Whitting, who is running a candidate on a platform of "equal rights to all," parts his name in the middle, and that will defeat him if nothing else does.

Neenah News: There is an echo of victory in the cuckoo organs of the Wisconsin republican bolters, in consequence of the betrayal of the people by the senate in the defeat of the primary election bill.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The Wisconsin assembly is said to have rejected the senate referendum amendment "almost unanimously." All of which indicates a piece of temper hardly compatible with wise legislation.

Fond du Lac Reporter: Mrs. Adelaide King is again in harness—journalistic harness. She is occupying the editorial chair of the Wauwaton Leader while Editor Oliver is taking an enforced lay off on account of sickness.

Marquette Star: The eastern Elks will be treated to a crab feast this summer on Chesapeake bay. There is nothing too good for the best people on earth and yet—there may be some brothers who would actually prefer some more commonplace dish.

Green Bay Gazette: In the election notices printed in the Milwaukee papers this spring are instructions to the voters as to the use of voting machines, which will begin a thorough test in that city. There is every reason to believe that in the not far distant future voting machines will come into general use.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: We are gratified that Charles Barker of the Twelfth Milwaukee district, in this city finally concluded to vote with his party in opposition to the senate amendments. Mr. Barker has common sense enough to perceive that opposition to a thorough primary election bill is futile, and he therefore gracefully bows to the will of the people.

Marquette Star: It is a strange fact in connection with the primary legislation so far that all the opponents of the assembly bill have busied themselves not in attacking the bill or the principles of a primary, but in defending their own positions. Senators and assemblymen have taken the time of both houses in an effort to justify themselves. Isn't this rather queer?

Eau Claire Leader: In choosing a location, the home-seeker should take everything into consideration, not only the richness of the soil, but also the prolificness and precocity of the poultry. Land which produces eggs weighing three quarters of a pound each, and pullets which commence laying at four months, should exert some influence on the mind of the settler and should certainly prejudice him in favor of northern Wisconsin, where such things have actually been done, and that very recently.

Sale of Seats: The sale of the seats for "The Chaperons" is rapidly going along. Mr. Myers has a subscription list that is being largely signed by those who remembered the performance of this company here last season and would not miss it this year.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH SERVICE

EASTER DAY CELEBRATED WITH SPECIAL PROGRAM.

SPECIAL MUSICAL NUMBERS

The Church Was Beautifully Decorated—An Excellent Sermon by Rev. Warner.

Beautiful potted and flowering plants were arranged very tastefully within the altar region and about the pulpit. A very large audience were present in the morning. The joyful anthems by the well-trained chorus choir, the large number of candidates for church membership, the practical lessons from Easter tide taught in the pastor's sermon, all conspired to make it a service long to be remembered in the records of this historic church. A fine evening audience greeted the Sunday school exercises in the evening. The storm detained some of the candidates for membership from coming. These will be received later.

Miss Hattie Delish, Miss Florence Bagley and Arthur Foteles with a violin and piano and Marcia Noyes and the Junior choir took their parts nicely in singing. The young speakers of the evening all did well. Mrs. Rider's reading and Mrs. Warner's solo accompaniment by Miss Crawford on the organ, Mrs. Richards on the piano and Leslie Williams with a violin produced an excellent impression. The day was one which produced lasting results in the church.

Names of those who have joined the First M. E. church since the revival meetings of Messrs. Biedervolf and Stout:

MONDAY CLUB IS TO GIVE A TEA

Will Honor Miss Kellogg, of Madison. This Evening, at the Congregational Church.

This evening the Monday club of the Congregational church will tender a tea and reception to Miss Louise Phelps Kellogg of the state historical society at Madison at the church parlors. The young ladies of the class, some sixty in number, furnishing the repast, although a committee, consisting of Misses and Helen Gates, Pearl Bonesteel, Mary Buckmaster, Erma L. Kellar and Josephine Fenton have charge of the supper.

Last Lecture. Miss Kellogg, has during the past fall and winter, delivered a series of lectures to the Monday class on the Italian Renaissance and the Reformation. They have been most interesting and the class have so much enjoyed them that this tea was planned with the idea that they might in part show their appreciation to Miss Kellogg of her work with them.

This lecture closes the course for the present year, but it is hoped that the work will be taken up at a later period next fall. The tea will be at six and Miss Kellogg will lecture to the class and their friends afterwards.

DAVID JEFFRIS BACK FROM SOUTH

Thinks Kentucky a Good State to Keep Opinions to One's Self.

David K. Jeffris returned Saturday from Frankfort, Kentucky, where he is interested in several large lumber deals. He witnessed a part of the trial of Jim Howard, who is up for the third time for the murder of Gov. Goebel. From what he has seen of the state he believes it is a good place to keep your mouth closed. Opinion which do not meet with common favor to often result in gun display. He had the pleasure of riding in a passenger coach seated by a man who carried a revolver the size of a piece of heavy artillery slung in a shoulder holster, ready to pull at a second's warning. Mr. Jeffris leaves tomorrow morning for Montreal, Canada, and will return to Kentucky the latter part of the week.

WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONS MEET

Session of the Court Street Ladies Meet with Mrs. Inman on Wednesday.

The Woman's Foreign Mission circle of Court Street M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Edward Inman, 257 Prospect avenue, Wednesday, at 2:45 in the afternoon. Subject, third chapter of Lux Christi—the oft conquered people. This will be our nine box opening. Multiply your mites. Quotations on India or on giving. Let every member come and come promptly. Bring your friends. Trolley cars within a half block of the door.

Big English Trust. The Calico Printers' association is one of the biggest trusts in England.

NOTICE

The Gazette is willing and pleased to publish all notices of lodge or society meetings, but it has found it necessary to make the rule that all notices must be written and left at the office before 11 o'clock of the day they are to be published. In the future no notices, except paid ones, will be received over the telephone.

CURRENT NEWS NOTES

No Meeting: There will be no meeting of the Schumann club this evening. It having been postponed until Monday evening April 20th.
Carpenters and painters have been busily engaged of late in improving the interior of Alie Razook's restaurant on South Main street. An ice cream parlor has been added and the place now is a most model one in every respect.
Assault Case Adjourned: H. Erdahl of the town of Plymouth pleaded not guilty before Judge Fifield Saturday to the charge of assault and battery brought against him by O. O. Osgard of the town of Plymouth, and the case was adjourned for a hearing to April 22. The trouble arose in a dispute over a line fence.
Fire Alarm Sunday: Box 13 was pulled Sunday afternoon for the first time since repairs were made upon the box last week. The department was called to the house of O. H. Mead, on the corner of Ravine and Pearl streets. A chimney fire caused the alarm. Use of the Babcock extinguishers quickly put out the flame in short order.
Warehouses Ended Assorting: Both the H. S. McGiffin warehouse at Milton Junction and the M. H. Soverhill house in this city have closed their assorting rooms, having cleaned up the crop of the present season.
Celebrated Her Birthday: Miss Agnes Rogers was very delightfully surprised Friday, on the occasion of her birthday, by a party of her young friends. After an afternoon of games, the young people served a delicious supper.
Hoffert-Stiller. Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Charles H. Stiller and Miss Teresa Hoffert. The marriage will be solemnized at the bride's home on Center avenue, April 22.

HISTORY CLASS CLOSES SESSION

LAST LECTURE OF PROFESSOR WRIGHT IS GIVEN.

SUPPER AT MRS. LOVEJOY'S

Delightful Evening Spent by the Class at Her Home, Saturday Night.

Saturday last closed the winter's session of the Woman's History club. During the past fall and winter Professor T. L. Wright of Beloit college has delivered lectures on art and literature of the ancient world at the time of the Roman empire, and the different members of the class have prepared papers on different subjects which have been assigned to them from time to time. Quizzes on the work already done have been more than interesting to the members of the class.

Illustrated Slides

Prof. Wright has used illustrated slides to explain his talks and the science room of the high school building has been well filled on each afternoon of the lectures by an interesting audience. The slides shown are all one which Prof. Wright has carefully had prepared from photographs he has himself procured in the vicinity of the places the scenes depicted.

Saturday's Lecture

On Saturday last Professor Wright began the afternoon with a short talk after which papers were read by members of the class. The topics for the afternoon being grouped about the subject of Professor Wright's lecture which followed on The Meaning of Greece and Roman Civilization as Shown in Modern Life. Works of the old masters were reproduced on the canvas and Prof. Wright showed how modern painters and sculptors had copied, if not the form, the style of these old masters.

Interesting Work

During the past year the class has taken up the work of the world from the point where it was left off last spring to the division of the Roman empire into the Eastern and Western empires. Next season the class will continue down as far as the Renaissance. Prof. Wright having again consented to act as mentor for the class and aid them in the pursuit of their study.

Delightful Evening

After the lecture the class adjourned to the home of Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy where a delightful supper was served and a reception tendered Prof. Wright. The dining room was tastefully decorated with tulips and vines and after a charming repast music and conversation made the evening one of enjoyment.

LEAGUE SUITS TO BE DISCUSSED

Meeting of the Municipal League for Members Only, Tuesday Night.

Settlement of the suits brought by the Municipal league—one against James B. McLean and one against H. S. Gilkey—is looked for tomorrow evening, at which time the propositions agreed upon by the attorneys will be submitted to the membership of the league. The latter body has been promised from the first that no agreement would be accepted until it had been put before the league for consideration. A meeting has been called by President George S. Parker for tomorrow night and will be held in the assembly room of the city hall.

MANY STUDENTS WERE IN TOWN

Depot Platform Full of Returning University Students, Waiting Over Trains.

University students lined the Milwaukee depot platform this morning awaiting the arrival of the Madison train, which was about forty minutes late. They had come from all corners of the southern part of the state and were obliged to change cars here. Of the Janesville student who have been at home during the Easter recess, only a few returned this morning, most of them preferring to wait until more nearly the hour of the first classes, which are held tomorrow morning. Among those who have already left for Madison are Henry Carpenter and Victor Marquissee. F. C. Weber of Fond du Lac, who has been spending a few days here has also returned to the university.

FRANCHISE UP FOR SETTLEMENT

Mayor Richardson May Refuse to Sign the Franchise at To-Night's Session.

Predictions are numerous but not altogether agreed as to the franchise action which will be taken by Mayor Richardson at the meeting of the common council this evening. There are those who boldly assert that he will refuse to sign the ordinance granting the Janesville Traction company permission to run their lines through this city to Madison. Others deny the statement, or declare that if such action is taken the fathers will pass the ordinance notwithstanding.

Ruger's Report

In addition to this matter, a report is expected from Edward Ruger, who was appointed some time ago to look over the sewer system plans mapped out by City Engineer Kerch and make recommendations as to their passage. Mr. Ruger, it is said, is wholly in favor of the plans submitted by Mr. Kerch.

Routine Business

Besides these two matters routine business is expected to occupy the balance of the time. One more meeting will be held by the council next week, when the bonds of the officers will be approved.

FLORENCE CAMP, M. W. A. TO BE THE HOSTS.

COME TO OUR CITY TONIGHT

Will Take Part in the Exemplification of the Secret Work with Local Camp.

Florence Camp, No. 366, Modern Woodmen of America, will play the part of host this evening and will entertain the members of Eclipse Camp, No. 1907, of Beloit. The local camp has a candidate for adoption and an exemplification of the secret work will be given by the officers and drill team of the visiting camp.

Efficient Team

The drill team of Eclipse camp is one of the most efficient and best disciplined teams in the state and under the leadership of Captain C. A. Reynolds has achieved distinction and won trophies in many competitive drills.

Local Woodmen are more than ever interested in matters pertaining to the order, because of the fact that the big picnic of the Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin association will be held here June 4th. This in itself is enough to keep every member alert and hustling and each meeting of Florence camp from now on will see much business transacted and doubtless many additions to membership.

Come on Interurban

The visitors from the Line City will come up on the interurban and return on a late car at the close of the meeting.

Attorney Frank Cleary, of Beloit, transacted business in the city this morning.

Coming Attractions.

A. Liebler & Co. production of a Hall Calne play with James O'Neill at the head is certainly a worthy bill, and if reports are correct "The Manxman" will be an interesting performance. Mr. O'Neill will be at the Myers Grand next Wednesday, April 15. The stage version of "The Manxman" is a dramatization by Hall Calne and Wilson Barrett of realize the opportunity offered for the intense work for which he is a grand master. The supporting company according to the programme, should be adequate. May Buckley who will play Kate Cregeen has an unusual record. Now only 25 years of age, she has been a leading woman of note for over five years. When only 15 years of age she created the

JAMES O'NEILL

Calne's novel of like title. The story when first put upon the market caused a thrill and brought the author's name to the front as one of the most daring writers of our time. Ouida and Corelli were passed and Ibsen and Tolstol were figuratively speaking told to "go way back and sit down." "The Manxman" is one of those stories which tear the heart-star role of "The First Born" in San Francisco. Belasco took her to New York where she captured the metropolis and in two years more she was the talk of London and Paris. George Edwards secured her for the production of San Toy and she re-James O'Neill many times. A do-comic opera. In "The Prince of Peace" she again returned to em-

"The Chaperones" will present the now-famous operatic comedy at the Myers Grand, April 22nd.

An eastern writer described "The Chaperones" as being "A whirl of girls." And so it is; pretty girls, dozens of them, who dance and sing and wear all sorts of costumes. The songs are fortissimo. The dances go with a rapid transit vim and dash. Costumes are changed every minute. Jokes fly fast and furious, and the whole is an olla podrida of sparkle music and nonsense. "The Chaperones," from all accounts, is merry, amusing, without being silly, and is made up of such a variety of elements that, whatever your taste—provided it be not serious—you'll find scores of things in it to laugh at and applaud.

Monopolies—Reputation of Prices
An injunction will lie to dissolve an illegal agreement between a plumbers' association and dealers and manufacturers, whereby the latter agree not to sell to others than members of the association, and the former to boycott any dealer found selling to a non-member, and to restrain the enforcement of such agreement against a plumber who, by reason thereof, has been unable to purchase supplies with which to do his work. 56 Central Law Journal (Missouri) 251.

Clubs—Liability for Articles Stolen
The plaintiff, who was not a member of the defendant club, went there upon the invitation of a member and put his coat in the cloak room. It was stolen during his absence in an other part of the club, and he sued for its value and for money paid to detectives in attempting to recover it. Held, that as the defendants were a club, and not in the same class as innkeepers, keepers of boarding houses, and hotel keepers, they were not liable for the safety of articles brought upon the premises. 23 Canadian Law Times, 119.

Insurance—Death by Poisoning
Where an accident policy provides that the insurance did not cover an accident resulting wholly or partially from "voluntary or involuntary" taking of poison, the term of "voluntary," as so used, was not limited to an act forced upon the insured, but included death from the accidental taking of an overdose of a poisonous medicine, instead of a prescription left by a physician. 72 Southwestern Rep. (Texas, Judge Rainey) 602.

Slander—What Constitutes
Defendant, a miller, asked a customer, what he wanted for his wheat, and upon the latter's replying that he would not price it until he had seen plaintiff, also a miller, to whom he had given the refusal of it, defendant said, "Well, you won't want to price it to him but once, if he beats you out of much as he beats me out of. He just beat me out of $1,100 in three months." Held that the strings, something like "Enoch Arden" or "The Blacksmith's Story." It tells of how Peter Quilliam, the man of all work at "Manx Fairy" Inn fell in love with Kate Gregeen, his master's daughter, a pretty frivolous little doll, who had about as much stability and honesty as the girl hostler Joe married. When Pete proposes for the pretty barnmaid's hand, Caesar Gregeen reminds him that he is far too poor to aspire to be his son-in-law, and orders him off the place. Pete accepts the situation and resolves to seek the riches which shall make him more worthy, at the diamond fields of South Africa. Before departing, however, he enjoins Philip Christian, the companion of his boyhood to watch over his darling and keep her from harm until he shall return. Philip swears before God to do so, and before Pete has been gone a year ruins the girl he has sworn to protect. Pete returns. He has been fortunate at Kimberley, and can boast himself as the richest man on the Isle of Man and Kate being jilted marries him; then a baby is born, and she confesses the child is not her husband's. Woman-like she screens her seducer and the blame is laid on the Deemster's brother. Remorse, however, seizes Philip Christian, and snatching the mask from his face, he tells the hideous story and tells Pete to kill him. Quilliam, however, for the sake of the woman, restrains his passion, and the end of the story sees the three principal actors of the drama separated never to be united. Those who know Mr. O'Neill's ability will tional work, after which Liebler & Co. secured her to play Rhoda in "The Honour of the Humble." The cast of "The Manxman" furnished an identical role and of course she was retained. She is an unusually beautiful woman and has the advantage of a convent education. An evidence of liberality not only on the part of Liebler & Co., the producers, but also the star in the presence in the company of three well known and distinguished leading men, Chas. Kent, Joseph Kilgour and Frank Connor have for years held positions that give them the top line of the programme and three figure salaries.

THREE "CHAPERONS" SHOW GIRLS

Annie Wood, the character old woman is often spoken of as one of the three famous Annes, the others being Annie Teammans and Annie Ward Tiffany. Mrs. Wood supported the biggest stars of the world from Forrest down and has mothered James O'Neill many times. A dozen years ago she was the famous Sinfacta of "The Black Crook." A dozen other names are recognized as able players and when seen in one bill should give a clever performance. Nothing need be said of the equipment. Liebler & Co. furnish their productions entire in this case, even to the pigeons, doves and chickens, which coo and cackle around Pete and his pretty sweetheart.

Corrosive Sublimate for Potato Scab.

On the treatment of potato scab a government bulletin says: Corrosive sublimate, or bichloride of mercury is a white crystalline substance, resembling salt, which can be bought from any druggist. To make the solution, place one ounce of this chemical in one gallon of hot water and after allowing it to stand ten or twelve hours until dissolved, dilute with more water to make seven gallons. This solution should be made in wooden or earthen, rather than metal dishes, since it corrodes metals. The seed potatoes are to be soaked one and a half hours in the solution. The disinfection may be done at any convenient time previous to planting. In fact, after experimental use of this solution for several years we are led to recommend that the disinfection be done several weeks before planting, since it may retard germination somewhat when used just before planting. In using this solution it must be remembered that it is deadly poisonous to men and animals if taken internally. It is not poisonous to the skin, however.

GREAT PICTURES AT OPERA HOUSE

An Excellent Moving Picture Show at the Myers Grand This Evening.

Yesterday afternoon and evening persons who have enjoyed moving picture shows in the past had an opportunity to see one of the best if not the best performance of its kind that travels through the country. The Lyman E. Howe company have some of the finest films that are exhibited anywhere in the country. They are not like the prize fight pictures that the public generally associates with the words, moving pictures, but are good clean scenes that both amuse and instruct the spectator.

An attachment has been placed on the machine and the usual buzzing sound that accompanies shows of this sort is done away with. Then too another feature that has been added is not often a part of exhibitions of this sort. When figures are shown in which action is demonstrated and chairs are moved or some noise is depicted the actual noise is produced back of the canvass on the stage and the audience forgets that it is an inanimate picture at and imagines that the figures are actual persons.

The pictures are here tonight and Manager Myers is so pleased with them that he has engaged the show for a return date for next Saturday night and Sunday matinee and evening. One feature of yesterday's performance was that persons who came to the matinee also came back for the evening show and brought their friends.

BOY'S BODY IS PLACED ON TRACK

Train Severs Head of Lad Who Had Been Shot in Temple.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 13.—Charles Pohlmann, the 7-year-old son of William Pohlmann, was shot in the head last Friday evening and probably killed, and then his body was thrown across the Lake Shore railroad track to be run over by a freight train to have the evidence of the shooting obliterated. The body was found with the head nearly severed from the body, but no other wounds were visible. It was supposed the boy had tried to crawl under a train, with fatal results, and the coroner was about to render a verdict to that effect when the undertaker, preparing the body for burial, discovered a small round wound in the temple.

GREAT DUTCH STRIKE IS ENDED

Collapse of Agitation Follows Stormy Meeting of Labor Committee.

Amsterdam, April 13.—The strike has collapsed. The aged Socialist leader, Domela Nieuwenhuis, who emerged from his retirement in order to run the strike agitation, was present at a stormy meeting of the labor organization. He proposed to terminate the agitation, since the cause of labor had been betrayed. The meeting acquiesced in this view, and decided not to elect a new strike committee. A similar decision was reached at a local meeting of the strikers at Rotterdam.

New Buildings for Iowa.

Iowa City, Ia., April 13.—The board of regents of the State University of Iowa has decided to erect two new buildings. One will be a museum and library, to cost $300,000, and the other an assembly hall, armory, and gymnasium, to cost between $125,000 and $150,000.

Kills a Boy.

Marquette, Mich., April 13.—Elmer Lundvall, a 7 year old boy of Marquette, is dead, and John Gonyea, aged 65 years, is in the county jail. Gonyea killed the boy while, as he alleges, he was shooting at cats.

A decision rendered in the circuit court of Kalamazoo ends a long legal fight, which has tied up the estate of the late Senator Stockbridge. The ruling is favorable to J. L. Houghtling of Chicago.

Preparations for the Vanderbilt-Nelson wedding to take place at Newport on Tuesday have caused a corner in Easter flowers and decorations.

FOREIGN.

The shot which killed the Prussian consul in the Balkans is considered by students of international politics to portend as grave results for Turkey in Europe as did the blowing up of the Maine in Spain in America.

Moros in battle of Bacolod, which lasted three days, are said to have shown great bravery in the face of the attack by Americans. The moat around the fort was crossed on a bamboo bridge and eleven of the attacking force were wounded.

Pietro Mascagni has reached Paris after his varied American experiences, which he is not eager to repeat.

WASHINGTON.

The official figures of the naval department show that the proportion of desertions compared to enlistments is steadily decreasing.

Important changes in the army include the retirement of Maj. Gen. R. P. Hughes and the promotion and retirement of others.

The Danish West Indies may yet be purchased by the United States, as the treaty is still in effect and the royal commission favors the sale.

Further details of the operations of the "promotion" bureau conducted by a postal ring are coming to light. The board of ordinance has decided that the 24-inch rifle is best for cavalry and infantry.

POLITICAL.

Cook county judges selected a list of fifty names to be recommended to Gov. Yates and the state senate as competent to serve as justices of the peace.

School Trustee Harris of Chicago in a letter to Supt. Cooley deals a blow to the Marsh education bill, saying it is too extreme and otherwise objectionable.

A presidential boom for David R. Francis of Missouri has been started and Illinois Democrats have been asked to drop talk of Harrison for the 1904 candidacy.

SPORTING.

QUEEN QUALITY
With The Leaders.

BEHIND every fact lies a reason when there are a multitude of Shoes for women trying to be sold and one Shoe far surpasses all others in volume of sales, there is a reason for it. This one Shoe is....

QUEEN QUALITY

Its sales are more than double the sales of any other women's shoe. It can't be because of price—since it costs no less—it's simply—

A Triumph of Leadership.

QUEEN QUALITY is recognized in style—it leads—others follow—it originates—others copy. Everywhere it sets the style. If you wear Queen Quality, you are with the leaders in fashion.
